American Holistic Nurses Association Appoints New Communications Coordinator

Casey Bohannon has been hired as the new Communications Coordinator at the American Holistic Nurses Association effective Wednesday, April 11. Casey will be responsible for increasing awareness of AHNA’s programs and expanding membership through various social media, as well as continuing to update the nursing community with the latest information on key medical issues and other important AHNA topics. He will also be responsible for drafting press releases and “letters to the editor” along with pieces about upcoming conferences and events.

About Casey Bohannon

Casey is a graduate of Washburn University in the spring of 2017 with a major in Mass Media emphasis in Creative Advertising and a minor in Business. He plans to use the experience he has gained from Washburn University and previous positions/internships to help him in his current position at AHNA. He enjoys spending his free time with his friends and family at Kansas City Chiefs or Royals games or golfing around the Topeka area.

About AHNA

The American Holistic Nurses Association (AHNA) is a non-profit specialty nursing professional membership organization that serves as the definitive voice for registered nurses who practice holistic nursing.

Founded in 1981, AHNA’s primary mission is to advance holistic nursing through Practice, Community building, Advocacy, Research and Education. The association is dedicated to the continued development of evidence-based holistic research, self-care methods for nurses and non-pharmacological pain management. AHNA offers networking opportunities to its members along with continuing nursing education through webinars, self-study programs, publications, conferences, and scholarship and grant opportunities.

AHNA currently services more than 5,000 members through 146 local chapters in the U.S. and abroad. Holistic nursing is recognized by the American Nurses Association as an official nursing specialty with both a defined scope and standards of practice.
